

The Daily Courant.

Saturday, November 20. 1708.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Nov. 24.

Vienna, November 11.

BARON Bifferrelli, who came hither not long ago from Catalonia, was sent by Velt-Marshal Count Statemberg to solicit several Affairs: Among others, that the Imperial Court would be pleas'd to endeavour to prevail with the Queen of Great Britain, and with the States General of the United Netherlands, that the Imperial Troops which are to Serve in Catalonia, under the Pay of those Potentates, may be paid on the same Foot that the German Troops are paid. He brought with him no Letters from the Court of Spain, because the Baron of Imhoff, Privy Councillor and Envoy of the Duke of Wolfenbuttel was gone about 8 Days before with Letters from their Catholick Majesties to the Imperial and several other Courts; but not being yet arriv'd 'tis fear'd he is lost at Sea, the rather because he went from Barcelona in a very small Vessel, and has not yet been heard of either at Genoa or Leghorne: Cardinal Grimani, Viceroy of Naples, has oblig'd the Bishop of Bisignano to declare Null the Excommunication of those Persons who receive the Revenues of the Ecclesiastical Benefices, that have been Sequester'd by King Charles of Spain: And in case the Pope should again write to the Clergy of Spain to give the Duke of Anjou a Part of their Revenues by the Name of a Free Gift, the said Cardinal threatens to Sieze all the Ecclesiastical Revenues of Naples for the Use of King Charles. 'Tis said that the Cardinal of Saxe-Zeitz, who went lately to Presbourg, has full Power from the Emperour, to grant the Malecontents a Suspension of Arms, on Condition that on their Side they would agree to some Preliminary Articles in order to come to an Accommodation: But 'tis much doubted that Prince Ragotski is not dispos'd to consent to it, the Court of France having so great Power over him. The Ministers of the Queen of Great Britain and of the King of Prussia continue their pressing Instances to the Imperial Court to permit the Calvinists of Silesia the Free Exercise of their Religion, and though one of the Emperour's Ministers gave them little Hopes of obtaining what they desir'd, yet we begin to believe that his Imperial Majesty will in some Measure grant their Request.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 23.

Vienna, Nov. 11. They write from Constantinople, that the Ministers of Prince Ragotski, assist'd by those of France; had so far prevail'd upon the Grand Vizier, that he had consented, in consideration of a great Sum of Money, to let him have 10000 Turks to serve in Hungary; upon which there happen'd a Tumult in Constantinople, and the Grand Signor being inform'd of the Matter, was so incens'd that he immediately order'd Prince Ragotski's Minister to depart that City.

Vienna, Nov. 11. General Heister pass'd by the Island of Schut on the 7th of this Month, with some Imperial Horse and the Auxiliary Troops of Denmark in his Way to Altembourg, where he is to joyn four Regiments: After which he will go in pursuit of Anthony Esterhazy, who is in the Rabau with some Troops of Malecontents. The Advice we had from Presbourg of the 3rd of this Month that our Troops had made themselves Masters of the Town of Kramplen proves a Mistake. And yet the Malecontents, upon the approach of our Forces, pittag'd that Place, and then set it on Fire, as they did likewise to Lewentz, Ersol, and other Places in the Mountains; and M. Oskai who pursu'd them, kill'd at least 300 of them: Insomuch that we are now Masters of those Places, and of all the Mines of Gold and of Silver, that are in those Parts. General Heister has left there some of his Foot under the command of General Viard; and General Palfi continues with his Forces at Poinetz.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated Nov. 23.

Vienna, Nov. 11. Our Letters from Presbourg say that General Heister was expected there in three or four Days, but they make no mention of our Troops having possis'd themselves of most of the Mountain Towns. The Malecontents have thrown some Bombs into Staelweissenbourg, thinking to destroy our Magazines that are laid up there; but they have been disappointed in their Designs, and are since retir'd towards Five-Churches. 'Tis said here that the Ministers of England and Holland, press very hard to dispose his Imperial Majesty not to insist on his Pretensions to the Ferrareze till a fitter Opportunity, but 'tis thought that we shall judge no time more proper than now, when the Pope is not in a condition to oppose our Designs.

Falmouth, Nov. 15. This Day the Busseburg Privateer came to an Anchor off this Place, and brought in with her a French Prize, call'd the Duke of Berry, an English built Flyboat of and from Rochelle for Canada, laden with Provisions.

Tarmouth, Nov. 17. This Day sail'd from hence her Majesty's Ships the Pearl, Sweepstakes, Advice-Prize and Katherine Yacht, with about 32 Sail under their Convoy for Holland.

Deal Nov. 18. Her Majesty's Ship the Queenborough sail'd Yesterday in the Afternoon to Cruize off North Foreland, but the rest of the Queen's Ships, and all the Outward bound are still here.
